Mijntje Lukoff is proud to present

THIS THURSDAY JANUARY 19 STARTING 6:00 PM

We are very pleased to invite you to our next sculpture show, introducing the work of belgian ceramist Natasja Lefevre.

Asked about her work, the artist explains to us: "Before I began working with clay, I was photographing animal cadavers for a series called Road Kill," she continues "To me, there is something poetic about the empty shell of a cadaver, the stare of a dead, its unseeing eye. The tension between life and death is captured in their shape. With my photos, I wanted to reflect on death as anecdote, present the polarity of life and death." Lefevre's work in clay continues to explore the duality of existence: the eternal versus the transient, the visible versus the invisible. Her sculptures always strike a balance between the mysterious and the ordinary.
